

UNCLE SAM'S TIMBER CROP.

Dawes County Farmers Get Into Trouble Over Clearing Government Land.

INDIGNANT OVER THE INDICTMENTS.

They Free Their Minds in Ben Baker's Office—What Interested Parties Tell of the Affair.

A dozen Dawes county farmers and several business men of Crawford held an informal reception in United States Attorney Baker's office yesterday afternoon and proceeded to relieve their minds concerning the indictments found by the grand jury against twenty-four of the citizens of that county, charging them with cutting timber on government lands.

Several of the men against whom the indictments were returned came down yesterday and were anxious to have their cases called and get through so they could go home to their fields, which just at this particular season demand their attention. They learned from the judge or from Mr. Baker that there was no certainty about the time at which their cases could be called and, indeed, it seemed probable that some of them would be postponed until next term. This aroused a great deal of dissatisfaction and they went out to the street, where they met the prosecuting attorney what they thought of the matter.

Most of the men declared that the whole business was the work of a few unprincipled sneaks, who were hired to inform the United States marshal about the timber cutting.

Mr. Hall, a banker at Crawford, who came along with the men who were arrested, to help them, said that a man named Ed Sandy, one of the leading witnesses against these farmers, had told him that (Sandy) was getting $500 for each of the cases he could work up. He said the government was paying him for the work, and he had been in telling the prosecuting attorney what they thought of the matter.

Mr. Sandy was found by a reporter for THE BEE, and when asked if he had been employed to work up the evidence against the alleged timber cutters, he flatly denied it, saying that he simply went around with a deputy named Jackson and showed him where the men lived against whom he had received information by letter.

"The only cases I got paid for," said Mr. Sandy, "were three whiskey cases. I admit that I got paid for furnishing information about them."

"Is it not a fact that nearly all the farmers up there have at some time cut timber on the government land?"

"Yes, I think they have," said Mr. Sandy. "Some cut more than others. When they wanted timber for their own use they always understood that the United States authorities would not object, but when they cut and hauled it to market, then the deputies went and got after them. I did not inform the United States marshal about these men, but because I hauled the deputy around the neighborhood, they throw all the blame on me. This is a very serious business, principally spite work anyway. They all cut some timber, and when one man happens to have a grudge against another he watches for a chance to catch him cutting and forming the United States marshal that the other fellow has been cutting government timber."

Mr. Baker said that several of the witnesses for the prosecution had been intimidated by threatening letters and had left the county. For this reason the cases could not be called as promptly as the prosecuting attorney had desired, but he would do his best to get them into court this term. He said it was not his desire or intention to prosecute farmers or settlers who simply cut a few loads of timber for wood or to fence their farms, but where men made a business of cutting timber on government lands and hauling it to market it became his duty as a representative of the United States government to prosecute such people to the full extent of the law.

Stricken from the Docket.
Judge Dundy, at one fell swoop struck the famous Helfenstein cases from the docket yesterday.

It is the general understanding that the attorneys for the Helfenstein devices will soon begin suits against the owners of property in the district affected by the Helfenstein claim and proceed as before. The only effect of the action of the court in striking the cases from the docket will be to cause the plaintiff to pay all the costs in the case, but this is itself a small matter, as the costs aggregate several hundred dollars.

A number of prisoners who had been in jail for some time were arraigned on indictments returned by the grand jury.

Frank C. Cushman, a son of Dr. Cushman of St. Louis, was arraigned on a charge of three bills charging him with counterfeiting. He pleaded not guilty. Joseph H. Ellwell, his accomplice, was arraigned on a charge of counterfeiting and pleaded not guilty. Jas. Cooper was arraigned on the same charge and pleaded not guilty.

Attorneys were appointed to defend the accused in all cases except the latter, who declined the offer of the court to provide an attorney. All the parties were remanded to jail to await trial.

Aaron Royce, a boy of sixteen, from Fairbury, was arraigned on the charge of embezzling a letter from the United States mails and taking a money order from it, which he afterwards endeavored to have cashed at the postoffice. He pleaded guilty to the charge of obstructing the mails and was fined $25 and costs and committed to the custody of the marshal until the fine was paid.

Joseph Weisbartinger was on trial before Judge Rorer for refusing to answer the questions propounded by Census Enumerator W. D. Tompkins. The evidence of the latter was to the effect that the defendant refused to answer the questions on the printed list and when the penalty for refusing to give information desired by the United States was explained to him he exclaimed: "To hell with the United States." The jury found the defendant not guilty.

Blackbird's Whisky Business.
James Blackbird, a descendant of the great Chief Blackbird of the Omahas, was in United States court yesterday on a charge of having sold whisky to the Indians on the Omaha reservation.

He is a splendid specimen of physical manhood and did not appear to be much concerned with regard to the arrest.

He was fined $15, "I only sold half gallon," said Blackbird to the reporter, "they charge me $15. Next time I don't sell no more without license."

Hail for Cushman.
Dr. W. H. Cushman of St. Louis came in yesterday and furnished bonds for his son F. W. Cushman, of Bassett, who was arrested on a charge of having circulated counterfeit money. Dr. Cushman said his son would be able to prove that he had not been connected with the counterfeiting gang.

Billy Donnelly's Tools.
Yesterday a writ of replevin was served on Chief Seavey signed by W. W. Donnelly demanding the restoration of the gambling tools taken from room 16 of the St. Clair hotel during the raid last Saturday night. The chief decided to give up the apparatus and the matter will go before Judge Halsey today.

Nothing Developed.
Half a dozen southsiders met at Hascall's hall on South Thirtieth street last night. The object of the meeting was to hear the report of a committee appointed two weeks ago

NEBRASKA'S BUSINESS MEN.

They Will Meet in Annual Convention in Omaha Today.

LIVE QUESTIONS TO BE CONSIDERED.

Better Insurance and Collection Laws Wanted—The Peddler Nuisance—The Officers and Arrangements for the Meeting.

The Nebraska State Business Men's association, composed of the retail merchants of the state, will meet today at 2 p. m. in the Omaha board of trade rooms and will continue the convention for three days.

The indications are that the convention will be attended by two or three hundred merchants of Nebraska.

There will also be a large number of jobbers and traveling men present. The leading subjects to be discussed will be the matter of legislation for the protection of retail merchants. There is a feeling among retailers that the collection laws of the state work an injustice to retail merchants, and the subject will be thoroughly discussed.

A scheme to organize an insurance company, exclusively among western merchants, will also be presented. The sugar trust will receive a crushing up and the peddling industry throughout the country will demand some attention. In addition to the state the retail merchants complain a good deal of the peddling nuisance. Peddlers go through the country with their wares in a manner of household trunks, furniture, clothing and dry goods. They pay no taxes and assume no responsibilities. The merchants are anxious to have laws that will regulate or prohibit the business.

The reception committee has established headquarters at the Millard hotel and all the officers of the association will have rooms there. The entertainment committee is very desirous that all jobbers and wholesalers should feel that they will be welcomed at all the meetings.

On Thursday afternoon the members of the association will be given a drive about the city. They will visit the stock yards at South Omaha, the smelting works and other points of interest. In the evening a banquet will be tendered the retailers at the Millard hotel by the jobbers and wholesale merchants of Omaha.

Following are the officers of the State Business Men's association:

G. H. Webster, Omaha, general president; O. J. King, Lincoln, first vice president; H. J. Lee, Fremont, second vice president; E. A. Lambeth, Nebraska City, third vice president; R. F. Hodgins, Omaha, general secretary; F. J. Benedict, Hastings, first assistant secretary; H. N. Dwyer, Plattsmouth, second assistant secretary; M. O. Goutzke, West Point, third assistant secretary.

State trade committee: S. S. English, Eagle, chairman; F. H. More, Kearney; H. L. Kennedy, Omaha; Arthur Truesdale, Fremont; F. J. Benedict, Hastings.

State legislative committee: Louis Heimrod, Omaha, chairman; C. E. Hoffman, Clark, D. P. Rolfe, Nebraska City; M. B. Murphy, Plattsmouth; Bar Parker, Lincoln; O. C. Holmes, Charles Courney and George A. Bennett, are the members of the Omaha delegation to attend the convention.

Following are the gentlemen who compose the reception committee: H. J. Matthews, O. C. Holmes, Charles Courney and George A. Bennett. The reception committee will meet at 9 a. m. today at the Millard hotel to make arrangements to meet the merchants at the depot as they arrive from the various towns over the state.

There will be a special committee of jobbers and retail merchants to receive the delegates of trade rooms to introduce delegates and visitors to the convention.

Minor Matters Looked After by the Board.
At the regular meeting of the fire and police commissioners last evening John Morrissey asked for a transfer of his liquor license from 724 South Thirtieth street to 1134 South Thirtieth street. The transfer was granted.

Mayor Cushman submitted the appointments of M. T. Clark and M. L. Sheehan as police officers. Chief of Police, in approval of the vicinity of Hanson park and Sheehan is to be in the service of the board of health. Both appointments were confirmed.

Officer W. W. Cox was granted five days' leave.

M. J. Cuff of truck 2 was granted fifteen days' leave, upon recommendation of Chief Galligan.

John McBride of No. 2 hose company was granted seven days' leave, commencing May 27. McBride is to be married on June 1.

Captain Sam Crowley of No. 4 hose company was granted ten days' leave.

Several citizens in the vicinity of Twenty-first and Ames streets sent in a complaint against Sunday ball playing and the loud and profane language used by the players. The complaint was referred to the chief of police.

Veterinary Surgeon H. L. Ramacott of the fire department was granted twenty days' leave.

Charges were preferred against Officer John Burns by Mrs. Ellen Callahan. It was claimed that the officer threatened to shoot Patrick Callahan, the fifteen-year-old son of the complainant. The trouble grew out of the abuse of Officer Burns' little son and his dog by Pat Callahan. Both sides of the story were heard by the board of police.

It was decided that it would be good cause for the dismissal of any police officer who failed to report any open saloons or any persons selling liquor on Sunday.

The committee on property was instructed to investigate and report whether there are any horses in the fire department which should be condemned. Considerable time was spent in discussing appointments to the police force, but none were made.

MURDEROUS JOE MONCKE.
He Tried to Kill His Sweetheart and Shoots Her Rescuers.

SCHLANTOX, Pa., May 18.—Last night Joseph Moncke endeavored to shoot Katie Burke, a young woman whose mother keeps a hotel in Old Forge township. Several men interfered and Moncke fired on them, badly wounding Frank Rafferty and Harry Griffith. Moncke then cleared the hotel of all on the lower floor and went upstairs in search of Katie. At this point a party of police rushed into the building. They were fired upon by Moncke, who fatally wounded Anthony Drovosake. The murderer then escaped and has thus far eluded his pursuers.
